

Fantasy

Armageddon's Children

Terry Brooks

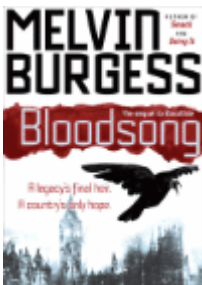

In the aftermath of a destroyed Earth, two teens set off on two different magical paths to find a way to save the human race.

Blackbringer

Laini Ta King Galbatorixylor

Magpie Windwitch is a faerie who is use to hunting down demons, but when one devil escapes that had been sealed by the creator himself, Magpie quickly finds herself fighting for her life.

Bloodsong

Melvin Burgess

Set in an alternate London, Sigurd must take his rightful place as ruler and defend himself against the Norse gods.

Book of a Thousand Days

Shannon Hale

Set in Mongolia, Lady Saren and her maid Dashi are walled up in a tower for 7 years when Saren refuses to marry as her father wishes.

The Brief History of the Dead

Kevin Brockmeier

In a city where the dead can stay as long as they are remembered by the living, a series of unusual events connect the inhabitants with the “real” world.

Brisingr, or, The Seven Promises of Eragon Shadeslayer and Saphira Bjartskular

Christopher Paolini

The third book in the Eragon series, once again dragon rider Eragon must team up with his allies to fight the evil King Galbatorix.

City of Ashes

Cassandra Clare

Clare Fray is a demon-slayer, living in New York City and defending its people from a world most cannot see.

The Dragon Heir

Cinda Williams Chima

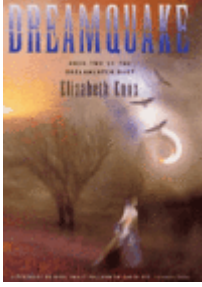

The last in a series of three, this book concludes the war between the enslaving Wizard houses and the rest of the magical community.

Dragon's Keep

Janet Lee Carey

Princess Rosalind was born with a dragon's claw where her ring finger should be. Rosalind keeps her hand hidden, is constantly aware that she is different. It is time for Rosalind to find out who she really is.

Dreamquake

Elizabeth Knox

The sequel to Dreamhunter, finds the dream projector Laura faced with battling a terrifying government conspiracy.

Eon

Alison Goodman

Eon has been studying dragon magic for years, mastering techniques based off of Oriental astrology. As he learns the mysteries of his craft, he is desperately hiding secrets of his own.

The Faerie Path

Frewin Jones

This modern faerie tale follows Anita as she discovers that she is the long lost princess of the Faerie court.

The Game

Diana Wynne Jones

Hayley is sent to live with her extend family in Ireland, after years of living with her grandparents. Her story takes on mythic proportions, as she joins her cousins in quests to find objects throughout another dimension.

Graceling

Kristin Cashore

Trained as an assassin, Katsa has the killing Grace, an ability that allowed her to kill a man with her bare hands at the age of eight. Katsa has never been afraid to fight, but as truths about her Grace are revealed, her bravery will be tested.

Ink Exchange

Melissa Marr

When Leslie decided on her tattoo of eyes and wings, she was looking to make a change. She got more than she bargained for, as the tattoo forms a disturbing connection to the realm of the fairies.

The Innocent Mage

Karen Miller

Asher dreams of being more than a fisherman. As he sets out on his adventures, he finds magic and mysteries awaiting him.

Lady Friday

Garth Nix

The fifth in this series, Arthur Penhaligan is having a busy week as each day he is forced to protect the world from the devious efforts of the Lower, Middle, and Upper houses. This time we find Arthur pitted against Lady Friday, who is kidnapping people and stealing their memories. It is up to Arthur to find these people and save them all.

Leven Thumps and the Gateway to Foo

Obert Skye

Leven Thumps (a.k.a Lev) is an ordinary kid from Oklahoma, until he stumbles upon the land of Foo. Now Lev must find the gateway between these two worlds, or both might be in danger of destruction.

The Light-Bearer's Daughter

O. R. Melling

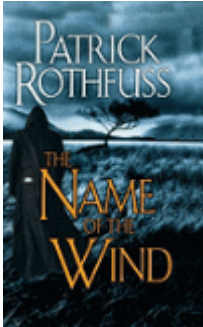

This tale of Celtic myth and legend follows Dana and her search to find her mother in the mountains of Ireland.

Little (Grrl) Lost

Charles De Lint

T.J., upset at having to move to the suburbs, is shocked when six inch tall Elizabeth drops in for a visit.

The Name of the Wind

Pat Rothfuss

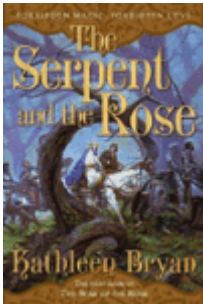

Kyothe, now living as a humble innkeeper, recounts his tale of how he became the most infamous wizard ever known.

Repossessed

A. M. Jenkins

A demon, or fallen angel as he prefers to be called, takes over Shaun Simpson's body in this humorous and often unusual look at demon possession.

The Serpent and the Rose

Kathleen Bryan

Averil, a powerful mage and heir to the Duchy of Quitane, must fight to protect her world from the King of Lys who wishes to enslave them all.

Skin Hunger

Kathleen Duey

The first in the series, this book follows what happens to a girl who communicates with animals in a society that has banned all magic.

Skybreaker

Kenneth Oppel

In this sequel to Airborn, we find Matt Cruise once again looking for adventure in the skies. This time he is hunting for a ghost airship filled with treasure, called the Tiburon, and the odds are truly up against him.

Tender Morsels

Margo Lanagan

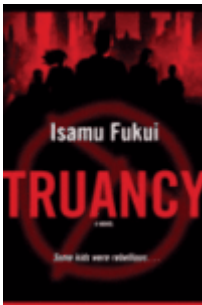

Young Liga, after being broken and bruised in the real world, is transported to a safe haven with her two baby girls. It is not long, however, before the real world starts wanting to get back in.

The Tenth Power

Kate Constable

The third in this series, Calwyn has returned home to Antarsis without her powers of chantment. Instead of a warm welcome, Calwyn learns of a killing disease that is threatening those that she holds most dear.

Truancy

Isamu Fukui

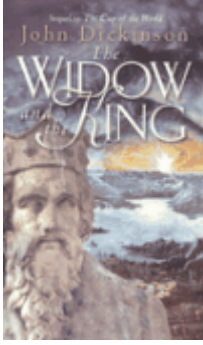

Set in an alternate world where teachers rule over a totalitarian state, Tack is thrust into the battle between the oppressive Educators and the freedom fighter Truants.

Voices

Ursula K Le Guin

Seventeen-year-old Memer has always loved the Oracle House, the last place allowed by the conquerors to house books. When new travelers arrive in town bringing rumors of rebellion, Memer begins to question everything she knows.

The Widow and the King

John Dickinson

This is the story of Ambrose, the last in the line to be king, living in exile as he hides from those who wish to keep him from his throne. Ambrose's time is running out as the evil priest of the Undercraft and his minions begin to close in.